It was one of the last days of their “paradise.”

Government offices were closed in downtown Dayton on Tuesday, the day after Christmas, but Municipal Court Judge Dan Gehres and Chuck Taylor, his bailiff, returned to their Courtroom 4B to look back over their 36 years together.

Theirs is a partnership like none other in the Dayton courts. Not just in their unequalled longevity or even their distinctive tonorial style – Gehres with his gray ponytail, Taylor with his neatly trimmed head of white hair – but in the unwavering friendship they’ve forged from their disparate backgrounds and differing current situations.

On Sunday, the 70-year-old Gehres will retire from the bench. He’s being replaced by his 37-year-old son,

Judge Dan Gehres and bailiff Chuck Taylor — who have courtroom Tuesday and talk about their bond, their ti colorful characters they have met over the years. TOM

Frank, who's been an assistant Montgomery County prosecuting attorney and is being sworn in today.

Taylor, who is 60 and has known Frank Gehres since he was a toddler, will stay on as his bailiff.

Dan Gehres, who aged out of his judgeship — you must be sworn into your position before you turn 70 — and is also fighting two bum knees which force him to use a walker and often require Taylor's help in matters of transportation, steps and other daily challenges, said "it's time" for him to hang up his black robe.

"I don't want to be the pitcher who stayed too long in the game, the quarterback who stayed too long on the field," said Gehres, using a reference to sports, a passion he and Taylor — once a well-known local athlete and coach — have shared since the day they met.

"I'd say my feelings are mixed," Gehres admitted when asked about leaving the bench. "I'm going to miss the people, the other judges and especially Kelly (Kolb), my assignment commissioner; Katie (Bligh) my court reporter; and, of course, Chuck.

"I can't think of a better guy to have spent the last 36 years of my life with than Chuck Taylor. He's the kind of wingman who would step in front of you when (danger loomed) and take the brunt of it to spare you. He's as good of a man as there is."

FAREWELL

DANIEL G. GEHRES

The Dayton Municipal Court bids a fond farewell to the Honorable Daniel G. Gehres. He served as a Dayton Municipal Court Judge from 1988 to 2023, making him the longest serving Judge in the history of the Court with 36 years of dedication.

At the first Big Bad Wolf Trial in 1989, Judge Dan Gehres and his 3-year-old son Frank — who had crawled up on his dad’s lap during the most gripping testimony — listen to the Big Bad Wolf (played by Gehres’ bailiff Chuck Taylor in a red cap and vest) give his account of the events. Frank Gehres was sworn in by his mother, Virginia Platt Gehres, retired Assistant County Prosecuting Attorney. Taylor, bailiff and great friend of Dan Gehres for 36 years, is now the bailiff for Frank Gehres.

Judge Daniel Gehres held his last high-profile trial on May 12, 2023: The State of Ohio v. Big Bad Wolf in Dayton Municipal Court. Gehres has been holding Big Bad Wolf trials for more than 35 years, and the 2023 student jury was only the second to convict the Big Bad Wolf. Pictured are (from left) Virginia Platt Gehres as Grandma; Chuck Taylor as the Big Bad Wolf; Judge Daniel Gehres; Katie Bligh as Little Red Riding Hood; and Dayton police officer Eric Miller as McGruff.

A Gehres Family Legacy: Judge Franklin Gehres (2024 -), Judge Daniel Gehres (1988 - 2023), and Clerk of Court Marty Gehres (2022 -).

The Judge’s Dedicated Staff: Paralegal Katie Bligh, Bailiff Chuck Taylor, and Judicial Executive Assistant Kelly Kolb.

THANK YOU DAYTON

Dear Daytonians,

I could never have imagined when I started classes at the University of Dayton School of Law in the late summer of 1975 that I would fall in love with my future wife there, that we would then raise our four children in Dayton and at the end of 2023 I would retire after serving 36 years as a Judge of the Dayton Municipal Court.

You first elected me Judge in 1987 and trusted me to fairly decide your many different cases. You continued to re-elect me five times, all unopposed, for which I am forever grateful.

During my time on the Bench, I handled thousands of civil, criminal and traffic cases. At trial I always tried to treat everyone with dignity and respect during those stressful times in their lives.

I had the privilege of presiding at the marriage ceremonies of over 1600 happy couples. With my staff we started three events which have become yearly Court celebrations, the Martin Luther King Jr. Day Diversity Luncheon, The Dayton Municipal Court Donut Day competition and the Big Bad Wolf trial where local elementary students serve as jurors.

I want to thank my personal staff made up of my Bailiff for all of my 36 years Chuck Taylor, a proud graduate of Roth High School Class of 1981, my long time Assignment Commissioner Kelly Kolb and my Paralegal Katie Bligh. They truly were the heart and soul in keeping our Courtroom running through thick and thin.

Married to my law school classmate Virginia Platt since 1981, we raised our four children in the Dayton View and Five Oaks neighborhood, daughter Lilly, sons Franklin (elected Judge in 2023), Marty (elected Clerk of Dayton Municipal Court in 2021) and Eddie.

A final thank you to Dayton and its citizens for believing in me and trusting me to serve as one of their Judges and for providing a warm and wonderfully diverse community to raise my family.

Like an old promotional ad from the 1980's read, "It's Great in Dayton!"

Thank you Dayton!

JURISDICTION AND ORGANIZATION

The Dayton Municipal Court is a limited jurisdiction court of record, whose judicial function is to apply the law to specific controversies brought before it and to resolve disputes between people and other legal entities. The Court operates under the rule of law to ensure that the protections of law are available to all persons.

The Dayton Municipal Court was created in 1913 by the Ohio State Legislature and began its judicial operation in 1914. The Court has the boundaries of the City of Dayton. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction over violations of any ordinance of the City of Dayton, Ohio statutory misdemeanor or traffic violations committed in Dayton, and preliminary hearings for felony cases that occur in the City of Dayton. Jurisdiction also includes civil cases, when the amount in dispute is $15,000 or less, and small claims cases, when the amount in dispute is $6,000 or less.

Five full-time judges serve on the Dayton Municipal Court. Each judge is elected on a nonpartisan ballot to serve a six-year term of office. Judges must be attorneys, that have practiced law for a minimum of six years and are residents of the City of Dayton. All judges are sworn to administer justice in every case and to ensure that the cases before them are conducted in an impartial and equitable manner. Annually, the judges elect a presiding judge and an administrative judge. These judges meet regularly with the court administrator to review the operations and policies of the court.

Two full-time magistrates are appointed by the Court to hear certain civil cases, small claims cases, and eviction procedures. They preside over initial appearances for defendants summoned for arraignment. They also preside over minor traffic and criminal cases.

The administrative, professional, technical and clerical functions of the Court are provided by 60 Court employees. Support positions include a court administrator, magistrates, court technology manager and IT technical support coordinator, probation officers, pretrial release officers, assignment coordinators, bailiffs, secretaries, paralegals, and electronic home detention officers.

JUDGES AND STAFF

In 2023, the Judges of the Dayton Municipal Court handled a caseload of 24,057, consisting of 17,163 new cases filed and 6894 pending and reactivated cases. This caseload includes civil cases, which cover a wide variety of legal issues such as contracts, unpaid credit card bills, unpaid medical bills, quality of workmanship for professional services, fraud, and negligence. The caseload also includes misdemeanor criminal cases, ranging from jaywalking to vehicular manslaughter, plus traffic and housing code enforcement cases. Each case, regardless of the type or subject matter, requires at least two court appearances. Cases with more complex or problematic issues will result in multiple appearances.

The timely adjudication of cases is an important priority for the Court. According to the Ohio Supreme Court case time statistical reporting, the Court's overall case clearance rate in 2023 was 103% and the overage case rate was 0%. This means the Court does not have a pattern of backlogged cases. A "clearance rate" is a measure of how well the Court is keeping pace with incoming cases. A clearance rate of 100% indicates that the Court is disposing of the same number of cases that was taken in. A clearance rate above 100% indicates that the Court is not only keeping pace with incoming cases but is also working through pending cases.

Throughout the pendency of cases, the judges decide intermediate issues that further the progression of the cases, as well as issues that impact their ultimate adjudication. These issues include motions to suppress, motions for default judgment or summary judgment, failure to appear warrants, competency, language barriers, and evidentiary/discovery disputes. Judges also decide post-adjudication issues such as community control revocations, motions for driving examinations and driving privileges, objections to magistrate's decisions, and motions for early release.

Outside of the issues within the individual cases, each judge must review and approve search warrants from multiple law enforcement jurisdictions, schedule office meetings and conference calls with attorneys, and conduct legal research necessary for decisions. Public appearances and service on numerous community and criminal justice boards must also be added to the judge's calendar.

Each judge has an office staff generally consisting of an assignment coordinator, bailiff, and court recording specialist, who may also possess paralegal skills. These staff members assist in the daily operations of both the judge's office and court docket.

MEDIATION SERVICES

The Dayton Municipal Court utilizes the services of the Dayton Mediation Center to resolve civil, small claims, and eviction cases. Parties are able to reach mutually agreeable binding decisions without proceeding to trial.

TRAFFIC SAFETY PROGRAM

The Traffic Safety Program (TSP) enables approved defendants, who have voluntarily entered a Plea of Guilty to a minor misdemeanor traffic citation issued within the jurisdiction of the Dayton Municipal Court, to have their cases dismissed upon successful completion of the Program and payment of the Program fee.

The Program was established in 2010. The two hour class is conducted by two off-duty Dayton Police Officers. They discuss topics covering the effects of speeding, distracted driving, and impaired driving, with hands on demonstrations of OVI equipment.

The City of Dayton Prosecutor's Office reviews minor misdemeanor traffic cases individually to determine eligibility for the Program. The minimum criteria for participating are:

- A two-point minor misdemeanor traffic violation with no accompanying criminal charges;
- The traffic case does not involve an accident or property damage;
- The defendant has not participated in the Traffic Safety Program within the previous 12 months; and
- A valid Ohio driver's license at the time of the plea, and does not possess a commercial driver's license (CDL).

In its thirteenth year, over 1,668 defendants participated in the Program. Eight Traffic Safety Program classes were held in 2023, with a successful completion rate of 95%.

Many of the participants expressed their gratitude for the Program, as the points could have caused them to lose their employment, as well as having a devastating financial impact, such as increasing their insurance premiums.

WARRANT ENFORCEMENT UNIT

One full-time Bailiff and one Deputy Clerk of Court of the Warrant Enforcement Unit assist the Court in contacting individuals who have failed to appear for court as ordered. They also monitor and process cases for deceased persons and close those cases.

The Bailiff makes several efforts to contact non-compliant individuals either in person and/or by telephone. Individuals successfully located are asked to report to the Warrant Enforcement Unit for processing and to appear before a judge or magistrate. In 2023, the Court issued 6,488 various types of warrants. Over 8,511 current and previous warrants were recalled in 2023, due in part to the efforts of the Warrant Enforcement Unit.

An additional responsibility carried out by the Bailiff was the service or attempt of service of 84 Domestic Violence Temporary Protection Orders issued by the Court in 2023.

By contacting individuals on their outstanding warrants, the Warrant Enforcement Unit saves valuable police time and jail space when those individuals voluntarily appear and resolve their warrants.

CHIEF BAILIFF

SHONTELLE SCOTT

Shontelle L. Scott was named Chief Bailiff of the Dayton Municipal Court on March 1, 2016. Ms. Scott is the first female, in the 100 year history of the Dayton Municipal Court, appointed to the position of Chief Bailiff. Chief Scott served Dayton Municipal Court in 1997 as personal Bailiff for the late Honorable James F. Cannon during his tenure as Administrative Judge. In 2008, Chief Scott began working with the current Presiding Judge, Carl S. Henderson, until 2011 as his personal Bailiff. In 2011, Chief Scott assumed a vacated position of Service/Execution Bailiff, where her duties included service and execution of criminal, traffic-related, and civil documents and actions.

Chief Scott brings a wide range of experience and knowledge to the position. She has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Criminal Justice Administration and Management from Kaplan University, and recently became a Certified Court Manager through the Supreme Court of Ohio and the National Center for State Courts. Chief Scott was chosen by the Judges of the Court for her excellent communication and leadership skills. In addition, Ms. Scott's ability to work with landlords, tenants, victims, outside agencies, and other court personnel are important attributes for the Dayton Municipal Court and the Bailiff's Office.

BAILIFF'S OFFICE

The purpose of the bailiff is to be of immediate assistance to the five elected Judges and two appointed Magistrates of the Dayton Municipal Court. The bailiff is often the first Court employee citizens see when they enter the courtroom; therefore, the knowledge of the Court docket and paperwork rests with the bailiff.

Administrative Staff

The administrative staff of the Bailiff's Office consists of the Chief Bailiff and Deputy Chief Bailiff. The Chief and Deputy Chief supervise a staff consisting of twelve (12) Courtroom Bailiffs, one (1) Armed Bailiff, and three (3) Service/Execution Bailiffs. The duties of the administrative staff include: keeping updates on Courtroom Bailiff duties, procedures, and forms; as well as greeting and assisting the public on behalf of the Chief Bailiff and Court. Other duties include: mailing courtesy notices to tenants regarding forthcoming physical evictions, assisting with jail bond release slips, and facilitating communication between the Bailiffs in the field and citizens.

Courtroom Bailiff

The duties of the Courtroom Bailiff include: assisting the Judge as needed; preparing the court docket and filing paperwork with the Clerk's Office upon completion of the docket; maintaining the decorum and safety of the Court; and acting as a liaison between the attorneys, citizens, court security officers, Clerk of Court personnel, and jurors.

Service and Execution Bailiff

Another important function of the Bailiff's Office is the service of judgments, orders, and levies, as well as handling the eviction process for all matters to be heard in the Court. The Bailiff works collaboratively with other agencies associated with the Court for matters regarding evictions, as well as Writs of Executions. Those other agencies include: the Montgomery County Animal Resource Center, Dayton Police, Mediation Response Unit, Crisis Care, Humaine Society of Greater Dayton, and South Community. The Bailiff also assists in the courtrooms as needed, and must undergo safety/security training outlined by the Supreme Court of Ohio.

A total of 1,765 Writs of Restitution (evictions) and 2,735 civil subpoenas were processed by the Bailiff's Office in 2023. A total of thirteen (13) Writs of Execution were served in 2023.

A total of 5,915 traffic/criminal subpoenas were processed in 2023. There were a total of 10,428 documents served in 2023, which included prosecutor notices, civil case subpoenas, garnishment orders, contempt citations, and complaints for eviction.

CHIEF PROBATION OFFICER

JOEL A. ZEUGNER

Joel A. Zeugner was promoted to Chief Probation Officer for the Dayton Municipal Court in January 2009. Prior to his promotion, Chief Zeugner worked as an Intensive Probation Officer for the Court from 1999-2009. He supervised male offenders convicted of domestic violence and domestic violence related offenses, and co-facilitated the Court's 24-week Domestic Violence Intervention Program: Stopping The Violence (STV). Prior to being an Intensive Probation Officer, he worked as a General Supervision Officer from 1996-1999. He obtained a Bachelor of Science Degree in Criminal Justice from Xavier University in 1996, and recently became a Certified Court Manager through the Supreme Court of Ohio and the National Center for State Courts.

He sits on the boards and committees of several community organizations, including: member and former President of Nova Behavioral Health; Dayton Correctional Institution Prison Advisory Board; the Ohio Chief Probation Officer's Association; the Montgomery County Coordinated Community Response to Domestic Violence; the Miami Valley Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force; the Criminal Justice Committee of Montgomery County's Community Overdose Action Team; and the Community Initiative to Reduce Gun Violence.

DEPARTMENT OF SUPERVISION SERVICES

Probation (Community Control) is a sentencing option available to the Court where the offender's jail sentence is suspended on the condition the offender remains law abiding. Those offenders placed on probation are informed of the requirements and are ordered to meet regularly with a probation officer. To ensure compliance, the probation officer monitors the offender regularly and verifies completion of all conditions ordered by the Court.

In April 2018, the Dayton Municipal Court (DMC), in collaboration with the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court (MCCPC), initiated DMC Pretrial Services. The purpose of DMC Pretrial Services is to provide supervision of individuals, arrested and charged with misdemeanor offenses, to ensure their attendance at scheduled court dates, while ensuring the safety of the public.

The MCCPC Pretrial Services Division conducts the screening and assessment for DMC Pretrial Services. A bond recommendation is developed based upon the individual's social and criminal history and a validated risk assessment tool. Individuals who are determined to have a high likelihood of appearing as ordered, and who do not pose a risk to public safety, are granted release and placed under the supervision of DMC Pretrial Services Officers. Pretrial Services supervision may continue until the individual's case is adjudicated, or it may be terminated while the case is still pending if there is complete compliance.

SPECIALIZED PROGRAMS FOR OFFENDERS

There are a number of programs offered by the Probation Department to help rehabilitate the offender and reduce criminal behavior. Some of the programs are held in-house and conducted by the Probation Department staff, while other programs are offered throughout the community.

Electronic Home Detention

In May of 2008, the Court entered into a contract with funding from Montgomery County to utilize a Global Positioning System (GPS) to track offenders electronically. The contract allows the Dayton Municipal Court Probation Department to offer electronic monitoring to all the area municipal courts. The GPS units provide “on demand” tracking of the offender as designated by the Probation Officer. The system alerts the EHDP Officer immediately if there is a violation.

This alternate form of sentencing saves tax payer dollars by allowing a low risk offender to substitute a jail sentence with community surveillance. It also allows the offender to maintain employment, enrollment in school, or attend to other important duties. The sanction has several positive aspects: (1) significantly lowers jail costs; (2) offender pays the daily EHDP fee whenever possible; (3) continuity with employment, and/or schooling; and (4) stability regarding family and housing responsibilities.

In 2023, the Electronic Home Detention Program had an operating budget of $300,000.00.

Housing Court Docket

Since 1999, the Dayton Municipal Court Housing Docket has adjudicated criminal cases involving violations of the City of Dayton housing, building, and zoning codes. The Housing Docket uses a vertical prosecution model in which code violation cases are heard before the same judge, with a prosecutor solely assigned to the housing docket and a code enforcement court team of inspectors. This approach provides a uniform and focused response to code enforcement violations.

The focus of the Housing Court is to obtain compliance by allowing the property owners a reasonable opportunity to correct the code violations. However, as with any criminal offense, the penalties for noncompliance include: incarceration, fines, community service, and probation. In 2023, 1080 cases were filed by the City of Dayton Code Enforcement.

Ignition Interlock Responsible Driver Program

This Program requires a breath test for alcohol that is installed in the offender’s vehicle. The driver must take the test before the vehicle can be started. Additional tests are administered while the vehicle is running. A failed attempt at starting the vehicle will prevent it from starting, and a signal will be transmitted to the vendor. The engine will shut down and prevent the impaired person from driving under the influence of alcohol. This ignition interlock device (IID) has been proven highly effective, and undoubtedly saves countless lives that would otherwise be lost at the hands of drunk drivers.

The IID has a monthly cost to the offender of $81.75.

Johns' School

Johns' School is for men convicted of solicitation of prostituted women. In 2008, the Court, in partnership with the City of Dayton Prosecutor's Office, Police Department, Public Health Services, and community advocates, created a program that addresses males convicted of solicitation of prostituted women. It consists of a one day program with a curriculum focusing on the legal ramifications of the offense, the inherent dangers, potential health risks, as well as the impact on the victim/survivor and community. Additionally, whenever possible, guest speakers include a former prostituted woman, who discusses how she was drawn into this dangerous cycle, the negative effects, and how she survived it.

Since its inception, a total of 1,247 offenders have been enrolled in the Program.

Making Adjustments Daily

Making Adjustments Daily (MAD) is a program offered by the Probation Department to help offenders convicted of offenses related to anger, aggression, intimidation, or violence. The class meets once a week, for an hour and a half, for four consecutive weeks. It teaches techniques to help participants build skills to manage strong emotions more constructively and to manage stress related problems in healthier ways.

Mental Health Docket

In 2003, the Dayton Municipal Court created the Access II Program for persons challenged with mental illness, who were convicted of misdemeanor offenses. The Access II name was embraced to constitute "access" to mental health services within the community for those involved with the justice system.

This problem-solving court combines judicial supervision with community-based services to motivate, engage, and reinforce participant's judicial conditions and treatment compliance. This collaborative team approach seeks to serve justice and promote healthy recovery through therapeutic interventions, by empowering one's quality of life, increasing public safety, and reducing recidivism and court and jail costs.

In 2008, the Program expanded countywide and now accepts referrals from all municipal courts in Montgomery County. The Program builds bridges between the justice system, behavioral health agencies, families, and the community.

In 2015, Access II became a Supreme Court of Ohio Certified Specialized Docket and is now called the Dayton Regional Mental Health Court Docket Program. In December 2022, the Program was recertified through December 31, 2025. Individuals are referred to the Program by the City Prosecutor's Office, Public Defender Counsel, Montgomery County Jail, Eastway Behavioral Healthcare, and Samaritan Behavioral.

Mental health assessments and compiled information are reviewed and candidates may be referred to the Judge for acceptance into the Program. Probation supervision under the Program lasts two years, and upon successful completion, the plea of guilty is vacated. The participants are involved in mental health treatment and also substance abuse treatment if needed. Court status hearings are set as needed to ensure compliance with probation conditions.

Access II started with 30 participants the first year and has since averaged 45 participants yearly. Currently, the Program has 25 active participants (participants fluctuate throughout the year). Since its inception, the Program has had 1,402 referrals, of which 889 have been accepted. To date, 284 participants have successfully completed the Program.

The Program is funded by Alcohol, Drug Addiction & Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) and the City of Dayton, Ohio.

Participating in the Dayton Regional Mental Health Court Docket Program are the City Prosecutor's Office, the Montgomery County Public Defender, the Dayton Municipal Court Probation Department, the Montgomery County Jail, Samaritan Behavioral, Eastway Behavioral, and South Community, Inc.

Offender Chemical Dependency Education

Over half of the offenders appearing before the Court have chemical dependency issues. Research consistently points to the correlation between crime, drugs, and alcohol. With that in mind, the Probation Department developed an in house program to help explore these issues. The program is referred to as People Addictions Choices (PAC). The Program provides education about the negative effects of mood altering substances, teaches relapse prevention techniques, and encourages a support system through Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and Narcotics Anonymous (NA). Both AA and NA are recognized internationally as having helped millions of people maintain sobriety and live healthy lifestyles.

Stopping the Violence

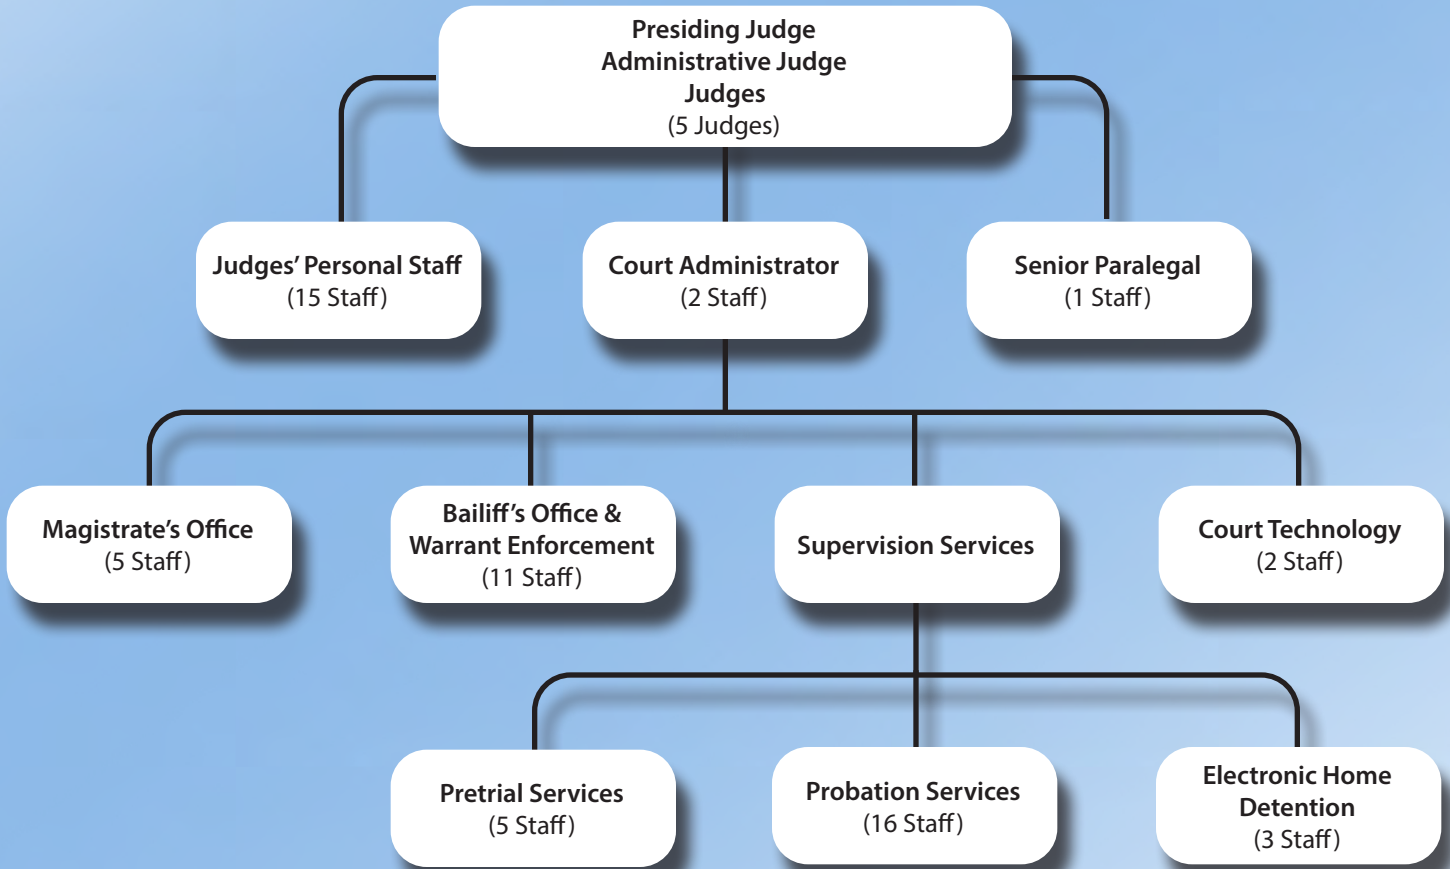

Violence is nothing new to the community or to the Probation Department. Yet due to the growing number of cases involving intimate partner violence, a program for heterosexual males was developed to help address this need. Since 1996, over three thousand offenders have been enrolled in Stopping the Violence (STV). The main goal of the program is to “stop the violence”. Using evidenced-based practice, the men learn that violence is much more than physical. Research points to the fact that emotional abuse is more prevalent and oftentimes more devastating to the victim/survivor. During the batterer intervention, the men learn that their violence is not about anger, or a loss of control; conversely, it is about exerting power and control over the victim/survivor in order to get what they want.

The most frequently asked question is “can they change?” The short answer is yes, given the motivation and willingness to take ownership of the problem and having the commitment to stop the behavior. Recidivism (repeat arrests) studies have been conducted and the overwhelming evidence suggests that batterer intervention and strict court enforcement can prove successful with the treatment of this type of offender when the program is completed in its entirety. However, it does bear noting that over half of the men enrolled in STV are terminated unsuccessfully for a variety of reasons, all having to do with noncompliance. Statistically, this appears to be representative of similar programs around the country, and can likely be attributed to the challenges that exist when working with a violent offender.

In 2023 a total of 40 offenders were placed into the program.
